

Message from the President of the 1st Panhellenic Conference on Neuropsychology

Dear Colleagues,

The Hellenic Neuropsychological Society (HNPS) is organizing the 1st Conference on Neuropsychology in Greece, to be held in Athens on 27, 28 & 29 April 2018.

Last year's successful celebration for the foundation of the first scientific society for Neuropsychology in Greece, allows us to hope that the 1st Panhellenic Conference will also meet your expectations for in-depth training related to latest research and everyday clinical practice. To this end, the Conference will cover a wide range of topics presented by renowned and prominent Greek and foreign speakers.

The Conference will include keynote talks, round tables, oral announcements and training through participation in seminars and workshops. In addition, proceedings will give space to junior researchers to present their work and will encourage expression and exchange of views and ideas, collaboration and networking. We will also welcome distinguished scientists who have excelled through their work at national and global level and we will declare the first Honorary Members of the HNPS.

The Conference will be held at the Maginio Amphitheatre of Aretaeion Hospital, which is one of the oldest University Hospitals in Greece. The Aretaeion Hospital is located in the center of Athens. Access to the venue is easy and unobstructed for those with mobility problems.

Dear colleagues, we invite you to actively participate in the success of the 1st Panhellenic Conference on Neuropsychology and we hope to see you in Athens next spring!

Ioannis Zalonis
Conference President
